Panel discusses responses to Civil Defense exercise

Mock emergency

Civil Defense exercise prepares leaders to respond to major crisis

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Fires blazing simultaneously at Casino Magic and Bay High School, while an explosion at John C. Stennis Space Center rocks the administration building.....

Terrorists are on the loose with 15 carloads of bombs...The stuff HBO movies are made of.

Hypothetical emergencies activating state, local and volunteer organizations were staged Wednesday morning to evaluate response time in a National Security Exercise at the local Civil Defense office.

Hancock County Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin stood calmly in the background as nearly a dozen department heads were assembled to receive instructions.

Boudin took a back seat as the exercise called for Fire Marshal Richard Pate to assume Boudin's role for a day.

"All of my people were here in 32 minutes," said Boudin. Schedules were put on hold as representatives of various agencies assembled to deal with the mock crisis.

Participating were Pate, Richard Fayard representing Police Departments, operations officer Mike Carbon, resource officer Harold Heine, emergency medical representative Glen Estapa, fire coordinator Jim Maness, Welfare Department representative Wallace Bradley, Bertina Burge of Red Cross, Tom Pope of the Health Department and representing Hancock County, Sam Cuevas and Supervisor Wilmer Seymour. Jay Marsh contacted various fire departments by telephone and logged response time.

"Good communication is essential in an emergency," said Estapa, who suggested a large communication board be posted to chart the location of emergency vehicles, shelters and various response units.

The exercise was planned by Boudin, and was the first to be executed in a surprise

Library patrons pack BSL budget hearing

BY AMY PICKICH

More than 40 people, most seeking increased library funding, voiced concerns about the proposed 1993-94 city budget to the Bay St. Louis City Council at a public hearing Tuesday night at the City Hall Annex.

"We are frustrated at continually trying to do more with less," Library director Prima Plauche said. "...We are frustrated at not being able to make long-range plans or better manage because the fate of library services is decided each year, only a few weeks before our fiscal year begins, and it is based on factors which have nothing to do with the realities of information service costs or delivery."

The library has requested $265,000 for fiscal year 1994. Library trustee Evelyn Johnson said that of the $330,000 already given to the library, only $51,000 can be used for operations. The $279,000 received in September, 1992, was for State Grant matching funds and can only be used for bricks and mortar.

"That ($51,000) is the same amount as the last two years," Johnson said. "This inadequate funding given the library for many years, and especially this year and for 1994, has eroded many services your constituents feel are essential to their needs."

OTHER FUNDING
Joan Bennett and Geraldine Lang requested increased funding for the Gulf Coast Community Action Agency, which serves low income and elderly residents.

Madison McKinney suggested the possibility of an animal shelter in Bay St. Louis, since funds are sent to the animal shelter in Waveland.

Tom Clark said that funds for a clean-up of the cemetery on Second Street should be included in the budget.

Other residents requested more line items and more money for the school system.

The board agreed and said that they are looking into the legalities of an agreement with Casino Magic to have funds sent directly to the school system.

Franya Ethridge requested a breakdown of employee job descriptions and salaries. She said that there has been a tremendous increase in administrative costs without a tremendous increase in city services.

The board agreed to take all matters under consideration. City Council President James Thrifiley said that the mayor's proposed budget, after ratification, must be approved by September 15.

Service with a smile

Hancock County Library employees have seen a dramatic increase in the number of items checked out in recent years. Staff members insist they can no longer provide the same quality services to patrons without a substantial increase from the city of Bay St. Louis. (Echo staff photo by Amy Pickich)

Library expansion breaks ground Sun.

The public is invited to the groundbreaking and award of state grants for the expansion and renovation of the Hancock County Library System's headquarters building Sunday, Sept. 12 at 2 p.m. at 312 Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis. "This project will give us a total of 18,000 square feet, almost doubling the size of the present building," said Prima Plauche', library system director.

Funds for the project will come from the Mississippi Library Commission through a state bond bill, with matching funds from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the City of Bay St. Louis.

The state grants award ceremony will take place in the library's main reading room, with the groundbreaking under the library oak. A reception will follow inside.

In the past five years, reported Hoda, there have been four other drownings at that pond, two of which occurred on the same day within an hour of each other.

"For an area that small and for having a lot of people around during all the drownings, that is a lot of drownings," he said.

PASS CHRISTIAN

Pass Christian Police Detective James Stewart reported the drowning of Mua Thi Nguyen, 64, of Pass Christian which occurred Saturday.

Stewart said Nguyen, who had Alzheimer's disease, had walked away from her home around midnight Saturday.

Police were contacted about 1 p.m. of her missing.

Officer Cindy Jerome took the initial report that started the search. The search lasted until 3 a.m. and was called off until daylight.

"At 6:55 a.m., we received a call from a fisherman who spotted a body floating right outside of the harbor by some rocks," said Stewart.

Stewart reported Nguyen was identified by her family.

Deputy Coroner Gary Har- grove pronounced Nguyen dead and determined the cause of death was accidental drowning.

"Evidence shows that her feet were cut up. We believe she slipped, fell and hit her head, which knocked her unconscious, and drowned," said Stewart.

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Are you doing your share of recycling? The report on the amount of people in Bay St. Louis who are recycling is good news.

During the month of July some 18.8 tons of recyclable materials were collected by Gulf Coast Recycling in Bay St. Louis.

The significant mark this makes is that some 178 cubic yards of landfill space was saved by recycling in Bay St. Louis.

Landfill space is at a premium today, and when one multiplies 178 cubic yards by 12 for a one-year period, that is a large hole not filled with useable materials.

There are still more residents in Bay St. Louis who could help our environment by joining the recycling program.

Other areas where recycling has played a role are those located at the Stennis Space Center and two Hancock County garbage compactor areas.

Since the opening in May, some 58,414 pounds of recyclables have been collected from these three sites.

This would have taken some 169 cubic yards of landfill space to occupy.

Thanks to everyone who takes the few extra minutes to recycle.

We have the responsibility to protect our environment. We can all do our share with very little effort.

High school football action continues Friday night with Bay High being hosted by the Pirates of Pass Christian; Hancock High hosting Picayune; and St. Stanislaus playing host to Biloxi's Indians.

The Tigers of Bay High have had two weeks to prepare for the Pirates, and this should be a good game. Pass Christian has opened the season with back-to-back victories.

Bay High coach Rocky Gaudin started the season with his Tigers giving 5-A rated Picayune a scare, only losing on a wet and muddy field by a field goal.

The Pirates will try to take advantage of being on a home field, so the Tigers will need to give a 100-percent effort to bring a victory back from across the Bay, as this may be the year of the Pirates.

Hancock High will test the waters against another 5-A rated team when they will face the Picayune Maroon Tide in Hawk stadium.

Hancock opened the season against 5-A Biloxi two weeks ago, losing by a 14-13 score. Last Friday, Hancock got into gear and defeated George County by a 9-7 score.

Hawk head coach Irvin Favre is expecting to have his squad ready to give the Maroon Tide good play this week.

The Hawks and Picayune have been through some good battles in recent years, and Friday's game should go along those lines.

The Rocks of St. Stanislaus will try to get things rolling Friday night when they play host to the powerful Biloxi Indians.

Ken Lyons and his Rocks will have to play flawless ball, as well as have some luck along the way to topple the Indians.

Anything is possible in high school football, and only the game will tell the whole story.

The Rocks will be seeking their first victory of the season.

Your local high school football teams need your support in the stands.

Support your favorite team Friday night. Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m.

Kiln school

A wooden frame two-story building housed the Kiln School on Bayou Talla in the early 1900's. A new building was later constructed on the Kiln/DeLisle Road. The late U.S. Senator Theodore Bilbo was a teacher at the old Kiln school while principal W.F. Bond became a State Superintendent of Education, according to Clarence Ladner. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SSC football program breaks a winning tradition

To the Editor:

This may seem trivial, but I felt it was somebody's duty to write concerning a deplorable situation.

One of the hallmarks of a Catholic school, whether it be college or high school, is a winning tradition in athletics.

In 1947, when I was in the 6th grade at Sacred Heart Elementary in Savannah, Ga., the high school I would have attended if we would have stayed there was Benedictine High, a Catholic high school that was a perennial powerhouse in football.

Then there is St. Ignatius in Cleveland, Ohio, Moeller in Cincinnati, Ohio, Tampa Catholic in Tampa, Fla., Miami Columbus in Miami, Fla., St. Thomas Aquinas in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Jesuit in New Orleans, La. and Ascension Catholic in Donaldsonville, La. You could go on listing Catholic high schools with winning football traditions.

Then you come to Bay St. Louis. If you're Catholic, you want to root for and support your local Catholic high school. Look what we have here. St. Stanislaus who has lost 16 straight games going back to the second game of the 1991 season.

They've played two games this year and have had 72 points scored against them, and they've scored none. Tell me who wants to support a program like this!

I can't understand why the Brothers tolerate such a losing program. They ought to "clean house" and let some people in there who know how to win.

Sincerely,
Art Elkins

Volunteers needed to clean the Pass beaches

To the Editor:

Do you ever get bored on a Saturday morning? Have you walked along a Mississippi coastal beach lately? See any trash? Scads and scads of it? Can anything be done about the mess?

Sure can! Come join the other 2,500 volunteers who have signed up to participate in the 6th annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Marine Trash Task Force on Saturday, Sept. 18, starting at 9 a.m., or earlier if you are an early riser.

If you live in Pass Christian, or close by, meet me at the B/P Market, corner of Route 90 and S. Market Street between 8 and 9 a.m. I will supply you with Mobil Oil Co. trash bags (clear for recycling; opaque for throw-away), gloves, data cards, pencils, Chevron Oil Companysponsored tote bags for service rendered, and a coupon for a free Pepsi at any Wendy's up and down the Coast.

Other zone captains will be posted in Hancock County, Long Beach, Gulfport, Biloxi, Ocean Springs and Pascagoula, including the Navy homeport. Gail Bishop, park ranger at the National Seashore complex in Ocean Springs, is in charge of the barrier islands cleanup.

You can receive more information by calling Margaret Ann Bretz at the Secretary of State office in Gulfport, or Dave Ruple, biologist at the BMR Edgewater Mall.

Casino site at I-10, 603 would be good for county

Dear Editor,

The proposed Mississippi Landing casino site, located just south of the I-10 and 603 interchange, is the best location for a casino in the state of Mississippi.

Traffic problems at that location will be unheard of.

The proposed 17-story hotel will provide an impressive sight rising above the marshes and pines for miles around.

The 600-acres of ground earmarked for golf courses and a family-oriented theme park will stop travelers in their tracks.

Gamblers traveling from the east to New Orleans will never get there with the magnetism from an imposing structure reaching for the stars, beckoning them like a giant rabbit's foot.

Gamblers traveling from the west will soon tire of the filth and grid-lock in New Orleans and the costly parking fees and the happy hookers towing their luxury cars to the auto pounds.

Letters Welcome

My personal opinion is to charge a higher service fee, or annex only if the issue forces Waveland into seeking revenues from a casino.

As we all have opinions, one opinion is definite—I and other citizens of Waveland do not want dockside gambling in the city nor in our residential neighborhoods.

However, our opinions and our involvement do not stop here. Anything can change. To maintain the integrity, tradition and creativity of our community, we the citizens need to continue our involvement with issues that affect the city we live in.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Putting business out of business

"No amount of class-warfare rhetoric from the Treasury can turn this witch's brew of taxes and mandates into anything but poison for the economy."

businesses are not corporations — roughly 80 percent are not incorporated. Since they are sole proprietorships, partnerships or subchapter S corporations, they pay taxes as individuals, not corporations.

Under this tax package, the corporate tax will go up 1 percent from 34 to 35 percent. But, the top rate for thousands of small businesses, which file as individuals, will go up 5 percent. In addition, small business will also have to suffer a new surtax (for earnings over $250,000 — called a millionaire's surtax), an increase in the health insurance taxes and the loss of certain personal exemptions and itemized deductions.

This makes the top effective federal tax rate for small businesses 44.5 percent. These tax rates are imposed before any state taxes are added.

Raising rates on individuals, on corporations, and taxes in general, hurts the economy. Doing so does little more than suck money from the private sector and away from the job creators just so that government can have more to spend.

Job creation is the way to grow the economy and penalizing the small businesses that create the jobs with higher taxes is just plain counterproductive.

This plan raises taxes and raises spending while the federal debt increases. The president and his allies in Congress may call it deficit reduction but unfortunately it's just the same old tax and spend.

STREET TALK

How do you feel about the proposed casino at Henderson Point in Pass Christian?

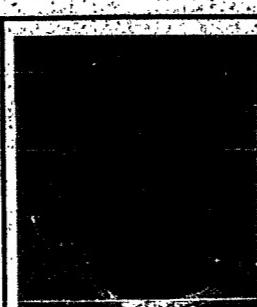

"I'm against it. There is too much of it already. I like to fish and play golf, and it causes problems with both. It will cause much traffic and congestion in an area that is already congested. There is so much traffic already that can't be handled. And who is going to benefit from that?"

George Ashley, Jr.

"For awhile, the Gulf Coast was unrecognizable. Now, with the casinos here, we're known worldwide as a great tourist attraction. Having worked for a casino for a year, I'm for it. I really don't think it will affect Pass Christian that much."

"If you do that, I will withdraw my name from this budget as I was directed by the state department, and each of you will be held personally responsible for putting this district into debt," said Bourgeois.

Board member Cheryl Bennett, who made the motion to give the raises, said, "In essence, we're already operating in a deficit because we don't have all the money right now that we budgeted for things in the budget."

Lynel Necaise said, "Your operating fund will be in deficit, not the fund, and you could transfer money from the non-operating fund to the operating fund."

"I firmly believe the non-certified employees are underpaid, but I think we need to hold the matter for the next meeting so we can better understand where the money will come from and see if we can feasibly afford this," said board member Carol Bustetter.

She said, "Once we do this, we can't take it back, and I don't think we have to rush to do it now."

Board president Lynette Necaise told Bourgeois, "Several months ago, I requested in writing the amount of money we had in reoccurring, carry over funds and never got it."

"In July, I requested the amount it would cost to give additional three percent raises to all non-certified employees and we just received that tonight," she said.

"This staff is overworked in order to get you all the information you need. You have been given more information on budgets than any other board," said Bourgeois.

Board member Larry Peterson said, "I've been called a crook and I don't like it. I make a maximum of $1,400 a year serving on this board which is a fraction of what the non-certified employees make. They knew what they were getting into before accepting the job as well as I did."

Lynel Necaise said, "In the original three percent scale, the mechanics were left out because you gave them a raise in February to bring them up and aides were also left out because they were recently given a $600 raise as mandated by the state."

The board considered eliminating the aides and mechanics, who recently received over six percent raises, reducing the cost for raises by about $8,800.

Attorney Steve Benvenuti said, "I recommend you table this matter, meet with the business manager so you can better understand exactly what you want to do and vote on this at the next meeting."

The board approved to allow the superintendent to work with the district architect in the development of building plans and estimates of cost for four additional classrooms at Gulfview Elementary, six additional classrooms at the high school and a media center at Gulfview Elementary and Hancock North Central Elementary.

The board approved the creation of a committee to make a policy on naming buildings after individuals. The committee includes the superintendent, a board member, a principal, a parent and a teacher, to be named by the board president.

The board approved the addition of a certified physical education teacher at Hancock North Central Elementary.

The PE teacher, Jean Cuevas, said she presently has up to 104 students in a class with 11 classes a day.

"When there were two of us nine years ago, we had an excellent lent, well-organized program," she said.

The board rejected the recommendation to hire a music teacher to be shared by the district, spending two days at Hancock North Central Elementary, two days at Gulfview Elementary and one day at Charles B. Murphy Elementary.

Board member Kay Sones said, "One part time music teacher can't serve all these children sufficiently."

In other matters the board:

—approved to deny the request by Hollis Spiers for renegotiation of his agricultural lease.

—approved the purchase of a telephone system for the Chapter 1 office at HHS from Key Communication for $1,050 which will be a district expense.

—awarded aerial photography work on 13 sections of school trust land in the county to Kingwood Forestry Services Inc. for $1,597.

—tabled the approval of the policy on compensatory time and compensatory time off.

—tabled a discussion on students arrested for fighting at the high school and the policy related to the matter and a discussion on Saturday detention.

The board went into executive session to discuss environmental issues/personnel within the district and potential litigation.

The docket of claims and the monthly activity fund claims docket for all schools for August were approved.

ON PATROL

FATALITY

Lt. Bobby Underwood of the Mississippi Highway Patrol reported a fatality on Highway 603 1 1/2 miles north of Kiln-Delisle Road at 1:44 a.m. Tuesday.

According to Underwood, a 1970 white Chevrolet van ran out of gas and pulled onto the shoulder of the road. A passenger took the driver and passenger to purchase gas and returned them to the van.

As the passenger was putting gas in the van and the driver stood next to the door, a blue 1983 Cadillac driven by Nolan Kingston, 48, of Bay St. Louis sideswiped the van.

The driver, whose name has not been released, was dead at the scene, while the passenger was taken to Hancock Medical Center.

The incident is still under investigation, under the direction of Trooper Wilbert Myles.

POSSESSION

Michael Allen Thompson, 29, of Waveland was arrested August 30, for possession of a controlled substance, which is a felony, according to Detective Shane Corr of the Bay St. Louis Police Department who is assigned to the Hancock County Drug Task Force.

Corr executed a search warrant at the Waveland residence along with the assistance of Task Force agents Terry Eley and Greg Martin, Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell and Officers Gene Boswell and Frank Miller.

Thompson is out on a $2,500 bond.

His preliminary hearing will be September 14, at 3 p.m. at the Hancock County Justice Court.

POSSESSION WITH INTENT

Bobby C. McDowell, 35, of Picayune was arrested in Bay St. Louis September 3 at 11 p.m. for possession with intent to distribute, according to Bay Detective Shane Corr.

Corr reported Bay Officer Ernest Taylor issued a warrant for McDowell's arrest from the Long Beach Police Department. McDowell was at the 500 Block of Sycamore Street in Bay St. Louis.

Corr reported Taylor found McDowell with six rocks of crack cocaine.

"At the point of arrest, McDowell was trying to hide the crack in a beer can, and Taylor found it," said Corr.

Taylor was incarcerated in the Hancock County Justice Facility under a $15,000 bond.

Bay Detective Terry Eley is in charge of the investigation.

Wildcats host Hinds Eagles

The Pearl River Community College Wildcats will host the Hinds Eagles Saturday, Sept. 11 in the Dobie Holden Stadium on the PRC campus in Poplarville.

Saturday's game will be the first home game of the 1993 season for Coach Willie Coats and his 1-0 Wildcats.

The Wildcats are coming off an impressive 45-14 win of their season opener against the Northeast Tigers Thursday (Sept. 2) on the road in Booneville, Miss. The Hinds Eagles are also reeling in victory as they pounded the Coahoma Tigers Thursday night 45-6 in Raymond, Miss.

Concerning injuries, Coats said offensive guard David King suffered a sprained ankle during Thursday's game.

Both teams will be coming into Saturday's contest 1-0 and with an extended week of practice behind them due to both teams playing on Thursday.

The Wildcats racked up 449 total yards offense in Thursday's game against Northeast with 435 yards on the ground and 14 yards in the air.

Wildcat sophomore quarterback threw the ball 11 times for two completions for 14 years. However, Thaxton tallied 47 years rushing in eight carries and scored PRC's first touchdown Thursday on the first offensive play of the game.

Kickoff in Saturday's game between Pearl River and Hinds will be at 7 p.m.

Junior high Rocks blank St. John 26-0

The St. Stanislaus Junior High football team won its first game of the season by defeating St. John 26-0.

The Rocks took the opening kickoff on their own 35 and drove the length of the field on runs by Derek Bradley and Tyree Haynes. Haynes scored on a three-yard romp and added the two-point conversion.

The SSC defense held St. John with a fourth down stop by Justin Wadsworth and Brandon Everett.

The offense again drove down the field with Haynes scoring from 19 yards out. The quarter ended with SSC up 14-0.

St. John had another opportunity, but again was stopped by the defense, which didn't allow a first down in the first half.

To finish the half, Haynes ran 60 yards for his final TD.

The second half started with SSC kicking off to St. John and again being stopped by the Rocks forcing a punt.

SSC drove the ball 65 yards down field, but was stopped by St. John on the one-yard line.

SSC came up with big plays on defense from Derrick Lizana and David Robeson, who ran down a sure TD from behind.

The final score was made by Justin Wadsworth, who scored on a 35-yard romp around end to make the final score 26-0.

College Football Highlights

For Sept. 11

The first matchup among teams in last season's Top 10 pits Notre Dame against Michigan in Ann Arbor. The Big Ten champion and the nation's top independent power proved just how closely matched they are when they played to a 17-17 tie last September at South Bend — one of three ties in Michigan's strange season. As further evidence of their parity, the Wolverines were 24-14 winners over the Fighting Irish at home in 1991, and Notre Dame won 28-24 at home in '90. They're still side by side in our mathematical rankings, so the only other number we took into account was Michigan's rowdy crowd of 100,000-plus. The Wolverines will win by one.

So, we predict, will the Tennessee Volunteers, who host Southeastern Conference East division rival Georgia. Tennessee has beaten the Bulldogs the last two times they've played, on the road last year, 34-31, and four years ago in Knoxville. In another Top 20 face-off, this one an off-and-on interconference rivalry, Pacific-10 champ Washington should overcome Big Ten runner-up Ohio State's homefield advantage. In Seattle in 1986, the last time they met, the Huskies blew the Buckeyes away 40-7. This time it should be much closer: Washington 28, Ohio State 26.

One of the week's best games will match Penn State against Southern Cal in State College, Pa. Both teams started losing early last year — Penn State was 7-4 and USC finished a disappointing fourth in the PAC-10 at 6-4-1 — but for our money they were the strongest four-loss teams in recent memory. Both should have remained on the Top 20 list until season's end, and we've always deplored the focus on perfect records that keeps that from happening. The Trojans beat the Nittany Lions in '90 and 21-10 at home in '91, the last time they butted heads, and we think Penn State will return the favor, winning by five points.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Sept. 12-13

**Cincinnati, 20—Indianapolis, 18

The Colts have won three straight in this series — all of them at Cincinnati. But Indianapolis is coming off a tough game with Miami, and these two teams are closer than their '92 records reflect.

**Dallas, 28—Buffalo, 24

The last time they met, Super Bowl spectators hoping for a great game (including two Harmon forecasters) were exiting the Rose Bowl by the third quarter. The Bills should be back to normal.

Detroit, 17—**New England, 10

In 22 years the Lions and Patriots have met only four times, each winning twice. The Pats, once again the likely AFC East weakling, met up with the division bully, Buffalo, last weekend.

**Houston, 32—Kansas City, 27

Moon vs. Montana — a playoff preview? The Oilers have beaten the Chiefs three straight years, including a wild 23-20 '92 OT win after K.C. scored the tying TD with only 23 seconds to spare.

L.A. Raiders, 24—**Seattle, 13

In '92 L.A., Seattle's fellow AFC West noncontender, won its fifth and sixth straight over the Seahawks by a combined score of 39-3. And to think they played for the AFC title 10 years ago.

**Miami, 30—N.Y. Jets, 21

They may be on opposite ends of the AFC East, but the Jets have stopped the Dolphins in three of their last four meetings. Last year N.Y. won 26-14 at home, then Miami won a squeaker, 19-17.

**Minnesota, 27—Chicago, 19

On week five of the '92 season, the Vikings nudged the Bears 21-20. A month later their relative positions in the NFC Central were clarified when Minnesota jumped all over Chicago, 38-10.

New Orleans, 33—**Atlanta, 14

The gap between the Saints (12-4) and the Falcons (6-10) in the NFC West last season was the largest between consecutively ranked teams in any division. New Orleans won both times they met.

**N.Y. Giants, 26—Tampa Bay, 13

It's been two years since the Giants last met — and defeated — the Buccaneers, 21-14. But the result is no longer a certainty: T.B. fared as well in the NFC Central in '92 as N.Y. did in the East.

Philadelphia, 29—**Green Bay, 22

With two Chris Jacke field goals in the final 1:31 last November — the last one as time expired — Green Bay pulled off a major upset, beating the Eagles 27-24. The Pack leads this series 19-6.

Pittsburgh, 31—**L.A. Rams, 17

The last time the Steelers met the Rams, three years ago, it was no contest, Pittsburgh winning 41-10. With the Steelers still improving and the Rams struggling, it won't be much closer in '93.

San Diego, 28—**Denver, 21

This should be stern test for both teams, which have high playoff hopes. They split in '92, the Broncos winning 21-13 at Mile High and the Chargers taking their turn at Jack Murphy.

**Washington, 26—Phoenix, 16

A shocking 27-24 loss to Phoenix last year ended the Redskins' seven-game winning streak against the Cardinals. When they met again in D.C., Washington took its revenge with a 41-3 drubbing.

San Francisco, 35—**Cleveland, 20

(Monday) Cleveland last beat the 49ers 12 years ago, though they've only played three times since. The Browns' defense is only passable, and with S.F.'s offense, we mean that in more ways than one.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. The word this week is that the shrimp are back all along the seawall.

This past week quite a few shrimp were caught using a cast net. All you had to do was walk along the seawall and throw the ole' net out into the water. That's a fact, Jack.

The Turtle has noticed, however, that most of the shrimp were caught when the net opened up when it was thrown. He did not see many shrimp being caught when the net did not open up.

It must scare the shrimp when it does not open—making them harder to catch, because every time someone threw the net out and it did not open, they did not have any shrimp in the net when they brought it back to shore. I can't think of any other reason why they would not catch shrimp, can you?

There seem to be some conditions that are more conducive (that's a fifty-cent word) to catching shrimp with a cast net than others.

For example: most of the shrimp caught this past week were caught on a cloudy day. We have been having a lot of cloudy days lately. Matter of fact, we have been having a lot of rainy days of late.

Anyway, it seems that the days that the sun is not out and the sky is dark are the favorite days for the shrimp to roam around the seawall. Ya' see, they don't wanna' get sunburned.

Another condition that the shrimp seem to like is high tide. I would guess that they like "more plenty" water over their heads. High tide gives them plenty of water to hide in, and it keeps the burning rays of the sun from tanning the shrimp.

Most of the people who were interviewed by the Turtle over this past week caught their shrimp during the afternoon hours. Gary Booth of Lakeshore caught about one-half of a five gallon bucket full of shrimp during this time. A quick check on the conditions of the sky, and the tide, showed that this was the time of both high tide and of maximum cloudiness.

I know quite a few of us "younger" folks can remember when we were able to get a bucket of clams and bust them open to chum the waters in order to attract the shrimp.

In these modern times it seems that buckets of clams are hard to find, so modern baits are being used to chum for shrimp.

Baits like the cheapest cans of cat food that you can find. Cans of cat food seem to be an effective shrimp caller, especially at night.

The way most people use the cat food is, they punch a bunch of holes in the can and toss it over the seawall where they are gonna' pitch their net to catch shrimp. After they toss the "holy" can of cat food into the water, they usually wait about five minutes before they start casting. This wait of five minutes or so gives the shrimp time to find the bait.

The Turtle has one suggestion to add. It might be a good idea to tie a string around the cans of cat food so that when it is time to go home you can take the empty can home with you.

For those folks who don't wanna' use cat food for shrimp chum, there are several other type of homemade chum that can be utilized. The easiest to make and use is just plain dry dog food. The way to use dry dog food is to place a couple of handfuls into an onion sack with a brick.

As the dry dog food gets wet and discombobulates — that's Turtle talk meaning it starts to give off particles that the shrimp seem to find irresistible — it drives the shrimp plumb crazy and they come running to be caught.

You can use your imagination as to other types of goodies to use for shrimp chum. The secret seems to be to use stuff that will break in tiny pieces; after all, shrimp have small mouths, and to put the stuff into some type of container that will keep it from leaving the area at too rapid a pace.

Jerrilyn Dupont fished John's Bayou this week and reports that she was able to put the "wammy jammy" on the croakers. She said that the croakers were in the deeper holes in the bayou and responded well to dead shrimp. The croakers were reported to be in the medium-size range, whatever that means.

Reports are coming in fast and furious that the time to catch fish is at night. The piers report that the trout and reds are biting big-time right in the middle of the night.

Matter of fact, Ladner's pier reported that one night they had over 50 fishermen around 1 in the morning. There were fishermen and fish everywhere.

This week's wonderful wise words: Night fishing seems to be the best.

Are boiled shrimp the same as sunburned shrimp, Turtle?

Weekend football action heats up

This weekend promises yet another exciting weekend in local high school football action.

St. Stanislaus is hoping to shake their two-game losing streak as they host the Biloxi Indians. Bay High, who had an open date last weekend, will travel across the bridge to play the 2-0 Pass High Pirates. Hancock (1-1) is hoping for another victory as they host Picayune (1-0).

Duck season set in Mississippi

The Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks set the 1993 waterfowl hunting seasons dates. Following the advice of waterfowl biologists from the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, the commission decided to go with a split season on ducks, coots and mergansers.

The split season will run 30 days. The first season will run from Dec. 18 until Dec. 21. The second season will run from Dec. 25 to Jan. 20.

The commission also set the dates for the goose hunting season.

Light geese (blue and snow) hunting statewide will run 80 days from Nov. 27 until Feb. 14. Dark geese (Canada and white-fronts) can be hunted statewide from Nov. 27 until Jan. 31.

Canada goose hunting in the Sardis Reservoir Zone, the Ross Barnett Zone and the Delta Zone (counties of Humphreys, Leflore, Sunflower, Yazoo and Washington) will run from Dec. 18-21, 1993 and Dec. 26, 1993-Jan. 31, 1994.

The preceding zones are defined as follows:

SARDIS ZONE: That area encompassed by I-55 west, Miss. Hwy. 7 east, Miss. Hwy. 310 north and Miss. Hwy. 6 south.

ROSS BARNETT ZONE: That area encompassed by Rankin County, north and west of Miss. Hwy. 25; Madison County south and east of the Natchez Trace.

DELTA ZONE: The counties of Humphreys, Leflore, Sunflower, Yazoo and Washington.

Bag limit for Canada Geese is 1 per day, 2 in possession within the respective zones.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1993-1B

Burton assists Junior high math teacher Sue Hattrem with an activity to show teachers how GE Plastics utilizes plastic beads.

Burton, Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois and high school librarian Barbara White

Burton names Anderson as theme of fellowship

The final session and field trips of the Professional Development Academy for Hancock County School District teachers were the dissemination phase of a SCI-MAT Fellowship for Independent Study in Humanities by Hancock High School chemistry and advanced chemistry teacher Suzette Burton.

Ninety-five secondary science and mathematics teachers across the nation were selected as 1993 Sci-Mat Fellows for Independent Study in the Humanities. Burton was the only Mississippi teacher to be awarded as a fellow.

This national fellowship is sponsored by the National Science Foundation (NSF) and supervised by the Council for Basic Education.

Burton's Fellowship allowed her to study for six weeks "Walter Anderson's Quest to Achieve a link between Ecology and Art."

She used a series of slides and local scenes to convey the life of Walter Anderson.

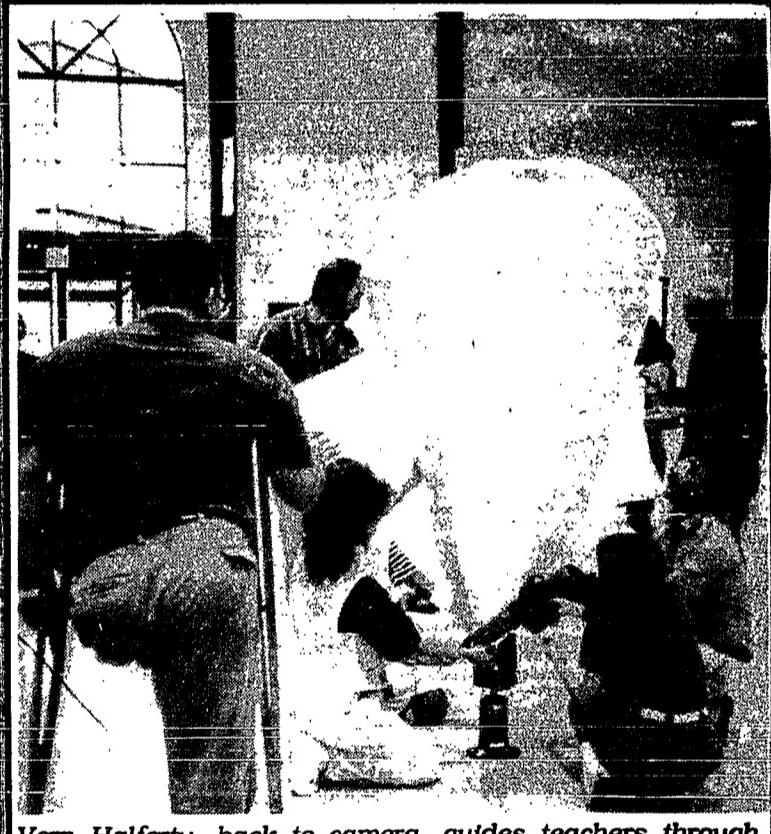

Field trips to the Walter Anderson Museum and Shearwater Pottery in Ocean Springs allowed teachers to observe his works.

Trips to Crosby Arboretum in Picayune and Gulf Island National Seashore in Ocean Springs demonstrated the link to ecology.

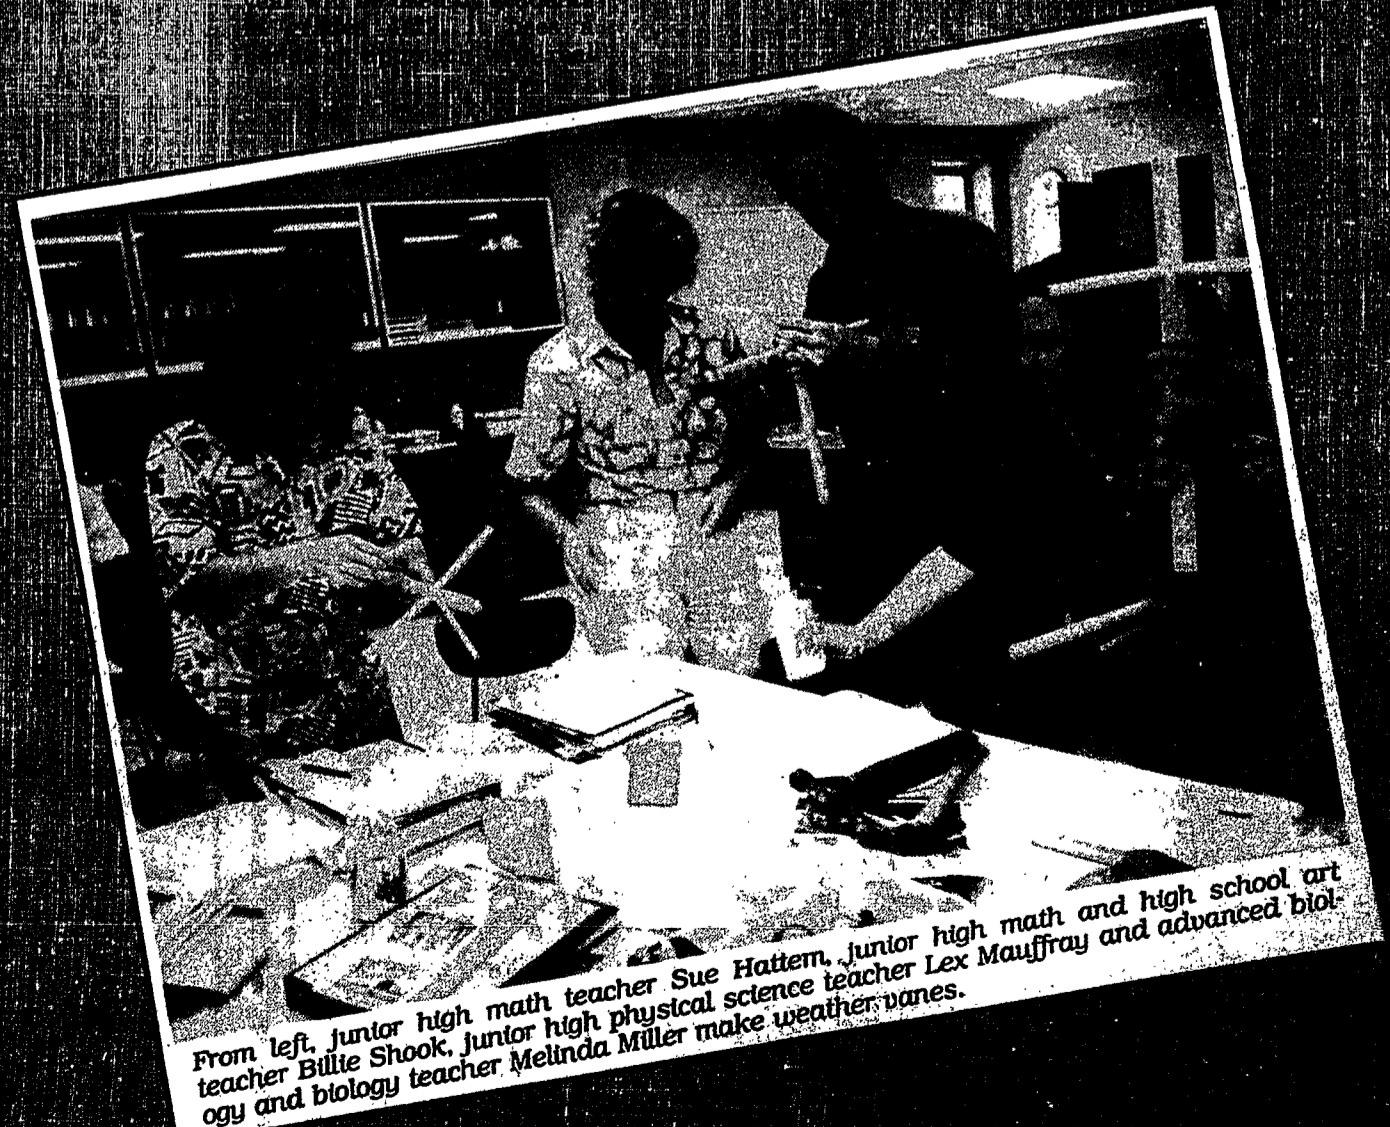

At the presentation, Burton donated a framed Walter Anderson poster to the school library.

Also presented were books and clippings used in Burton's research.

Burton said during the school year, she plans to do lessons allowing students to put into practice some of the things Anderson did, like observing nature, and express this in their own way through art.

Vern Halferty, back to camera, guides teachers through the process of making hot air balloons.

From left, junior high math teacher Sue Hattrem, junior high physical science teacher Billie Shook, junior high math and high school art teacher Melinda Miller make weather vanes.

—Burton on the Marine Education Center in Biloxi;
—Wally Fairly on Kern Optical of Gulfport;
—Eddie Favre on GE Plastics of Hancock County;
—Shani Necaise on Mississippi Power Company at the Jack Watson Plant in Gulfport;
—Lex Mauffray on WLOX weather program in Biloxi;
—Vern Halferty on Phillips Aviation and Project Hangar, both at Stennis International Airport;
—Nancy Stravinsky on NASA, which included a guest speaker with the summer SIFT program, George Goodman.

Special to the Echo
Lease rents reached an all-time high on Mississippi's 16th section school lands in 1983, says Secretary of State Dick Molpus, whose Public Lands Division oversees local management of the trust lands. Annual rental today is $9,162,746 — $2.2 million more than when Molpus took office.

"Preliminary income reports for all the 108 school districts with 16th section lands show rent income over $9.1 million last year," Molpus noted.

In 1983 when Molpus began pushing statewide lease renegotiations, surface-rents totalled $6.9 million. Fiscal Year 1983 ended June 30 and complete income reports will be available later this year in the Public Lands Biennial Report published by the Secretary of State's Office.

Surface rents and leases include money received for rentals on all surface-rights leases in eight school trust lands classifications — residential, farm residential, agricultural, commercial, industrial, recreational, hunting and fishing, and other — as well as mineral leases.

Since 1983, income to public schools from 16th section lands has increased dramatically because of two efforts directed by Molpus' office:

All boards of education for school districts with 16th section lands were informed that the Secretary of State's Office would strictly enforce 1978 reform legislation mandating professional management of the trust lands.

All new leases were to be negotiated at fair-market value and old "give-away" leases for pennies per acre were to be renegotiated. Since 1983, more than 4,600 leases have been renegotiated, records show.

"Since 1983, total income to school districts has been $289 million from all trust lands sources, including 1983's leases and timber sales."

Timber sales were another area of good news from 16th section lands, grossing a record $17 million to local school districts last year, according to the Mississippi Forestry Commission which supervises the forestry-management program.

"This past year was a good one even though timber demand can vary widely from year to year," said Jim Nelson, assistant secretary of state for the Public Lands Division.

Timber sales have totalled $114 million since the forestry management program was first proposed in 1958, but Nelson noted substantial increases did not begin until 1984.

Gardeners target best extremes

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

What is it about extremes that catches and holds our interests? Tabloid headlines at the grocery store checkout almost always include at least one extreme.

We read titles of articles about the tiniest horse, the heaviest person, the largest litter of puppies, the longest fingernails, the oldest elephant, the tallest tree, and it goes on and on.

Gardeners are no exception to this malady of extremes. For example, with tomatoes the interest is in the earliest tomato, the largest tomato, the greatest number of tomatoes per plant, or the latest maturing tomato from the garden.

The tomato variety Long Keeper helped fall gardeners set new records for late-season garden tomatoes. With the introduction of this variety, we began to hear about gardeners who would harvest in November and still have tomatoes in February.

Largest pumpkin contests are a frequent happening around the nation every fall. Mississippi will even have one this fall at AgFest/Fall Vegetable Field Day on Oct. 8 in Crystal Springs.

The heaviest pumpkin in record in the nation was grown last year in the state of Washington. It weighed 827 pounds, was reported as being 14 feet in diameter, and took just 90 days to develop from a blossom. Sounds kind of like a fish story (the one that got away) to me.

in Mississippi Gardens

Actually this huge specimen was a large squash, not a true pumpkin. It was not in the same botanical group as what we think of as Halloween pumpkins.

It also was not a perfect pumpkin shape but considerably elongated to give it that 14-foot diameter. Pumpkin or squash? Does it really matter when it's that large and heavy?

This summer I received a call from a gardener on the Gulf Coast who said he was going for the record fig. Yes, you read it right, fig.

The man said the Guinness Book of World Records did not contain a record fig. He had one, not his largest, that was 7 inches in circumference.

That's not quite two-and-a-quarter inches in diameter, which sounds a lot smaller than the 7-inch circumference. It's going to take more of an expert on figs than I am to know if that's a record of just a large fig.

Back to tomatoes. This summer I read in The Tomato Club, published monthly in Bogota, New Jersey, that a man was recognized for growing a 7-pound, 12-ounce tomato.

You'd have to check the Guinness Book to find out whether or not that's a record for the heaviest.

When it comes to the hottest of the hot peppers, Habanero also called Scotch Bonnet is reputed to be the hottest, at least 50 times hotter than jalapeno.

Older varieties of watermelons frequently weighed more than 100 pounds (the record is 262 pounds). All gardeners have grown zucchini squash big as baseball bats (nothing to brag about) and yard-long beans longer than a yard.

Oftentimes these super-giant vegetables aren't edible because they're so old. I recently received a gift of a head of cabbage touted to be especially heat and drought resistant. It had to be to have survived the north Mississippi summer.

It also was the toughest eating, hottest tasting cabbage that produced about the worst case of vegetable-related indigestion on my record.

I can see the front page on the supermarket tabloids now, "Man Blows Up After Eating Veggie."

Yes, we gardeners love extremes; the biggest, smallest, hottest, prettiest, sweetest, earliest, latest, etc. etc. etc.
